

FRANCE IS CUT OUT.

The Paris Government puts in its Our Just Too Late to Save Its Commercial Bacon.

CAN'T BREAK THE ZOLLVEREIN.

Police and Pad Weather Fail to Suppress New Year Hoodlumism on the Streets of Berlin.

PRaise FOR THE AMERICAN UNION.

Revolutionary This Has Frightened the Carina Into a Law Fever.

BEHLIN, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Reports have reached here by cable that the German Minister to Chile has offered the good offices of Germany as mediators between Chile and the United States.

These reports have been semi-officially denied. The Foreign Department does not think it necessary to telegraph to the Minister asking how the rumor arose, as no instructions from his Government warranting his interference have been sent to him, and the department relies implicitly upon his discretion.

The French Government is too late in trying to meet the miserable Zollverein, by commercial alliances with various European States. The overtures made from Paris to Sweden, Denmark, Greece and Italy are perfectly known in Berlin. These overtures till now have resulted in nothing further than an agreement with Greece and Denmark, both these allies of Russia getting the minimum French tariff in exchange for "favored nation" treatment from France.

The Zollverein Is Too Solid.

The negotiations for a treaty with Italy have in the meantime ceased, and it is not likely that they will be renewed. With Sweden, France stands a better chance, but nothing the Paris Government now can do to weaken the Dreihundert Zollverein, which ere long will include Belgium, Holland, Roumania and Serbia, and probably Spain.

For the solid vote of the Carinists in the Reichstag, which enabled the Government to pass the commercial treaties, that party is about to obtain the long-desired concession, granting the clergy greater control of the instruction, primary school, and the Von Zedlitz, Minister of Public Worship, will submit to the Landtag a project conferring power on the clergy to examine candidates for teaching in religious questions. The Catholics regard the concession as one which will enable the clergy to control the schools through the teachers. The project will cause a bitter fight in the Landtag, as the Conservatives hold that it will pervert the character of the Volksschule.

Rumors are current that negotiations are proceeding to obtain the admission of Russia to the Commercial Union, but that it will have no foundation for them. The Foreign Office denies that the question of a reduction of the Russian tariff has ever been mooted.

New Year Exuberance in Berlin.

Black winds and drenching rains ushered in the new year with a miserable weather, of course, had some effect on the celebration. The rowdy mobs which had been privileged every New Year's Eve to hold the leading thoroughfares against quiet folk and to indulge in such practices as crushing the theater hats, and carrying off the coats of well-known passers-by, found a partial check in special reinforcements of police, but neither the police nor the night watchmen were able to restrain the recurrence of the street rioting. Mounted constables rode along the boulevards dispersing the unruly groups. About 100 hooligans were arrested. They are awaiting fine or imprisonment.

The court functions on the day were the same as usual. At the levee held subsequent to the morning service, when all the commanding generals, Government officials and court officers filed past the throne, the Emperor wore the gala uniform of a Prussian general with the ribbon of the order of the Black Eagle. The Empress wore a magnificent court robe. She also wore the ribbon of the Black Eagle and the decorations of many other orders.

The Carina Frightened Into a Fever.

Advisers from St. Petersburg are that the illness of the Carina is a low fever, partly due to worrying over the plot against the Czar, in which the highest court and imperial personages are suspected of being involved. Private letters state that some of these plots are aimed at obtaining a constitution by which the nobles and landholders will appoint the members of an assembly. Among the New Year articles appearing in the German press is one in the National Zeitung which specially comments upon the growth of the American Union as the decisive factor of the century.

The Frankfurt Gazette announces that immense quantities of wheat and rye have been stored in the Rhine fortresses. The wheat, it says, was chiefly imported.

The American legation here is busy with the cases of American citizens of German birth who have been arrested in this country for desertion from the army. Minister Phelps finds the German government ready to accede to any reasonable demand for the release of the returned deserters, even when the laws would permit of their retention, but it would be better if men liable to prosecution on this charge should remain in their adopted country.

"Mark Twain" will deliver a lecture in this city on January 13 for the benefit of the Berlin American Church. He and Marat Halstead and Miss Halstead were given a dinner yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jackson.

ONE CLERK TOO MANY.

Lively Times Ahead for Mayor Gleason's Town on Long Island.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Rival city clerks sat on the right and left hand of President Michael E. Claven at the organization of the new Board of Aldermen in the City Hall at Long Island City this noon. The City Clerk on the President's right was Thomas P. Burke. He is backed by the Mayor and police force. The one on the left was Thomas Curry. His cause is championed by the new Board of Aldermen. A resolution was passed recognizing Curry as the proper official; but when the clerk was ordered to call the roll Burke's voice far outweighed that of his rival. He was requested to vacate his seat, which he refused to do. The sergeant-at-arms then proceeded to remove him. Mr. Burke gathered up his books, and the sergeant-at-arms marched him outside the railing.

Mr. Burke was in the City Clerk's office when the board adjourned, and two policemen stood guard in the door. Mr. Curry presented himself at the door, but was not allowed to enter. An action will be begun in court to compel Mr. Burke to surrender the property of the late City Clerk's office. Curry was at one time Mayor Gleason's private secretary.

A Fund for Mrs. Justice Miller.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 2.—Circular letters are being mailed from this city to various cities and towns all over the United States, addressed to Judges, lawyers and the many friends of the late Justice Samuel F. Miller and his widow, offering an opportunity for individual subscriptions to a fund for the benefit of Mrs. Miller and for the erection of a monument. The family's objection to the subscription was withdrawn on condition that each contribution be spontaneous and that nothing like soliciting be permitted.

AN OLD MAN'S SHAME.

His Son Confesses That He Contemplated Robbery, and Is Probably a Murderer —The Victim of an Unprovoked Assault Not Yet Identified —The Assassin's Story.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Henry C. Turner, Jr., the young man who set out to rob a man at One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street and Second avenue New Year's morning, and is suspected of having thrown him into the Harlem river upon finding his pockets empty, was committed to the Tombs without bail to-day by Conover. This is the statement he has made to the police:

At about 2 a. m. on New Year's day, while passing up Second avenue, on the west side, at One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street I met an unknown man and accidentally stepped on his foot, when he turned around and kicked me, struck him in the face with my fist, knocking him down. He got up and walked toward the bridge, and I followed with the intention of robbing him. After crossing Second avenue I engaged in a quarrel with him, and struck him with my fist, knocking him down. In falling he came within reach of my hand, and I ran under the steps of the bridge to hide until he had passed. After I thought that he had gone, I went back to the man again. He came to me, and we fought, all the time going toward the river. When we got near the edge of the dock he broke his hold on me and fell into the water.

Young Turner's father, Henry C. Turner, Sr., was in court. The young man told him that the dead man had fallen into the river. Turner's father is a painter. The young man professes to be a paper hanger. He has served nine months in prison for burglary.

The fact that the dead man's body floated all the time that Turner was seeking to escape, and was still afloat when he was found, is a strong indication that the man was dead when he reached the water. The body of the dead man had not been identified when the morgue closed to-day.

FASTING NEARLY TWO YEARS.

The Woman Who Has Actually Fasten Nothing for 640 Days.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Mrs. Adam Wucher, of White Hall, seven miles from here, whose strange experience as an involuntary faster created such widespread interest during the summer and fall of 1890, is still alive, apparently having subsisted 640 days without swallowing a morsel of solid food, and a considerable portion of that time without tasting even liquid nourishment. She is now blind, bedridden, paralytic and wasted to a shadow.

She began her fast April 4, 1890. A year before that her health had failed, and all food was refused. She went to the hospital after April 4 she was unable to swallow anything at all, except occasionally a few drops of water, until Nov. 2 following. On that date the faster succeeded in swallowing a few drops of orange juice, and subsequently, some beef tea. After that she slowly mended, but still was unable to eat solid food. In June, 1891, however, her condition again grew worse, and her sufferings have been terrible. Mr. Wucher and the watchers at the bedside feel sure that the end is at hand.

CAN'T STAND THE CARTOONS.

Why the Boston Public Library Excludes the Comic Political Papers.

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—There has been so much criticism of the action of the Boston Public Library trustees in excluding Puck from the library periodical list that the board feels called upon to make some explanation, and Mr. Abbott gives these reasons for the board's action:

"The children form the great majority of readers of both Puck and Judge. They flock in here after school to look at these big red, white and blue pictures, and the effect is not the best. Judge will be dropped for the same reason when the subscription now paid for expires. We object to the caricatures of men holding the highest positions in this country, which children don't know how to make allowances for. These men are not wholly bad, but the children are easily convinced by these pictures that they are. We have reduced the age for persons frequenting the library to 12 years."

Killed by a Christmas Day Gale.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—The Netherlands-American steamer Sparandam, which arrived to-day from Rotterdam, met the riotous Christmas day gale when she was six days out. She was lost with all hands. The first big one that toppled over her weather bow struck Seaman Jaman Yan Kniper, who was on duty on the forecastle, carried him all, and smashed both his legs. He died four days later and was buried at sea.

DEATHS HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

W. W. Vanderbilt.

After a long illness W. W. Vanderbilt died yesterday afternoon at Vallejo, Cal. He was born in New York in 1815 and was for many years in the service of his cousin, Commodore Vanderbilt, of New York. He was chief engineer of the pioneer steamer California when she made her voyage to the Pacific coast. Mr. Vanderbilt was in the employ of the Pacific Mail Company from 1839 to 1869, and for ten years was the General Superintendent of the Bureau of Harbors and Machinery. He superintended the rebuilding of the single-turreted monitor Comanche and the construction of the double-turreted monitor Monadnock, now being completed at the navy yard of Mare Island.

Obituary Notes.

EX-MAYOR ROSWELL, of Chicago, died in that city Friday night of congestion of the brain. He was Mayor during the great fire.

GENERAL MONTGOMERY C. MYERS, United States Engineering Corps, (retired) died yesterday morning of the grip at his residence in Washington.

YAN F. FITCH, a pioneer resident of Youngstown and a gallant soldier in the war, died yesterday from an attack of the grip, leaving a wife and six children.

MISS MARTHA BLOUNT, of Madison, Pa., died Friday night, aged 89 years. She had been stricken with paralysis 75 years ago and had never been able to walk since.

MAYOR JAMES M. ALLEN, of Terre Haute, Ind., died Friday of the grip. Forty years before his election last spring by the Democrats, he was Judge of the superior Court of his county.

SIGNOR EDUARDO MAERONI, who is dead in Paris, was a conspicuous figure on the American stage several decades ago when he came here in the support of Mrs. Elwell, the tragedienne. He married a niece of the actress.

Mrs. MOSES SWETZER, of Parkersburg, died at 11 o'clock Friday night. She was born in Andover, Mass., in 1823, and was the wife of Moses Swetzer, the well-known oil man. Her son is a talented author in Boston. The remains will be taken to Lyons, Mass., for burial.

JAMES S. MATHEWS, an actor and manager of repute years ago, died in the Overton, N. Y., Postoffice a few days ago. He was of English birth. For five years he managed a Rochester theater. He studied law afterward. Of late years he had been in dire poverty.

Mrs. ROSE BELL, aged 76, one of the oldest residents of the Southside, died at her home on Josephine street, yesterday afternoon. She was the mother-in-law of Charles and Matt Ott, of Ott Brothers, and was well known in this city to various cities and towns all over the United States, addressed to Judges, lawyers and the many friends of the late Justice Samuel F. Miller and his widow, offering an opportunity for individual subscriptions to a fund for the benefit of Mrs. Miller and for the erection of a monument. The family's objection to

NO FRIEND OF ELIOT.

Overseer Putnam, of Harvard, Forces Hot Shot Into the President.

THE DICKEY CLUB BARBARISMS.

Attributed Solely to His Liberality in Dealing With Students.

OFFICIAL ACTION IS PROMISED.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.]

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Jan. 2.—There is said to be serious discord among Harvard's officials on account of the exposure of the barbarous practices at the notorious "Dickey Club," and President Eliot's admission that he knew all about it but was powerless to interfere. There will be music at the next meeting of the Board of Overseers, and unless there is a very decided change of base on the part of President Eliot and other members of the faculty there will probably be an official demand for a searching investigation with a view to wiping out the evil.

Mr. Henry W. Putnam, a member of the Board of Overseers, savagely criticized President Eliot's "do nothing" policy in the following sharp letter:

"The Dickey Club has become the headquarters of the most dissipation and of the most barbarous and degrading practices to be found at Harvard, the disgrace of the college, and the curse of Cambridge—wholly within the 20 years.

Of President Eliot's Administration, and principally within the last 10 years, when his policy of non-interference with students' misdoings has been in full force. This you call President Eliot's slow, sure way of allowing effect to follow cause naturally."

"It is slow," certainly, but the only 'sure' result of it has been the steady increase for two decades of scandal and demoralization attending the developments of the Dickey Club. The drinking at the meetings has steadily increased during this administration. If Mr. Garrison's letter works reform it will be a positive evil, for it is a President Eliot's policy. As a graduate and overseer of Harvard, I desire to thank Mr. Garrison for doing an immediate service of incalculable value to my alma mater by his exposure of the evil which I wish to thank him still more, however, for striking a blow at the do-nothing policy.

Will Propose Official Action.

"President Eliot has made this policy his hobby to such a preposterous extent that he is to-day very popular with the fast set which runs the 'Dickey,' and which, by the prestige of that club, draws in and demoralizes many good fellows in each class who should be in different company and about better business. Nobody wishes to establish a petty police system by the faculty over the students, but a policy of regulating and, if necessary, breaking up large and well-known organizations of students, such as the very shadow of the college buildings is essential to the moral welfare of the University.

It does not know whether the overseers will call upon the President and faculty for any official action in the Dickey matter. They certainly will have a chance to do so, if I live till the next meeting and can be present, even if I am the only member of the board to vote for such action."

RAIN TO ORDER FOR TEN COUNTIES.

The Kansas Company Using Melbourne's Secret Mates a Proposition.

HYDRO, S. D., Jan. 2.—At the meeting of the Commissioners of Hand, Headle, Spink, Faulk, Potter, Sully, Hyde, Hughes, Buffalo and Jeraud counties next week they will be asked to appoint delegates to a convention to be held on January 20 to consider a proposition submitted by the Inter-Continental Rain Company of Kansas to furnish moisture for those counties during the coming crop season.

The company uses the Melbourne system, and a representative of the company will be present and explain the system and the proposition. The company desires to contract for at least ten counties.
